SYNOPSIS

On September 23, 2013, SA [REDACTED] initiated the closure of an investigation regarding an alleged mixed radioactive and hazardous waste spill at the Perma-Fix Northwest facility in Richland, Washington.

DETAILS

This investigation was initiated after EPA CID was informed of a possible spill of mixed radioactive and hazardous waste at the Perma-Fix Northwest (PFNW) facility in Richland, Washington. After conducting interviews of relevant PFNW personnel and employees of the Washington Department of Ecology, it was determined that two different incidents occurred with neither rising to the level of interest for referral to the Department of Justice for review.

It is recommended this case be closed.

During the case closure, the case agent confirmed the following information:
